

MUSIC OF THE SPHERES

The Fourth Dimension is the Governing dimension, as you are beginning to discern. There is only one thing going on, and every aspect of that one thing is perfectly harmonizing--literally the Music of the Spheres in concert--in the unfoldment of Divine Purpose. Time is an illusion which seems real within the framework of the three-dimensional frame of reference. It will disappear. Death will disappear, of plants, of forms. Under the circumstances and even as you look around you, you can see the effects of age on the building you are in. And you are aware that unless it is kept up, it will eventually simply be an old dilapidated barn that has been condemned that everybody should steer clear of. But Ideas are eternal. And the experience of decay, whether it is of a building, or whether it is of a body, or whether it is of a plant or a tree, is an illusion which will disappear. And so objects as you are aware of them will no longer exist. Trees as you are aware of them now will not exist. Plants quote "as you are aware of them now" unquote will not exist. They will be incapable of dying and they will be incapable of growing. As I said the other day, yesterday, the bulb, the plant, and the blossom will be simultaneously available to experience in their full Meaning. You will not have to wait until spring to enjoy the daffodils. This gives you some slight inkling of the fact that your experience of the world will be radically different. All negatives about it will be gone. Everything will manifest and express perfect harmony. And I will tell you this. You will not only feel the harmony, but you will experience the equivalent of hearing the harmony. Those who have allowed themselves to become very sensitive, who have not defended themselves totally, have referred to the music of the spheres. It is not a physical sound. You could say it is a spiritual sound. And every Divine Idea has a tone that you could say sings in harmony with every other tone.
